

Can there be any other way?

I am White Eagle.

Can there be any other way? Yes, of course. There is the way of the heart. It precedes the mind.

The way of the heart is the true way — a way that leads you softly, yet steadily on to your final goal. To know the perfect self is to lead with the perfect heart, ever onward toward that which uplifts you and brings you joy.

You may find this incredible to believe yet it is the truth so far as it goes. How far does it go? Farther than even your heart imagines.

Peace and beauty are not beyond your reach. They dwell within you — within your heart of hearts — and there they are laden forever in a profusion of color, a garden of flowers ripe and rich in color.

It may seem like going to a mythical isle. But the myth is the true reality. That myth of who you are that seems so far away is in fact very real, fully matured within your body, not just your physical body but all the bodies that are yours.

And those bodies speak peace within you, always and forever. All else that you imagine is not real. What is real is your whole being. That which sustains you is within your being and remains there forever.

Grasp this principle and you will see beyond the veil to the real you that supercedes all else.

Walk in the peace of this garden and forever see the light that is within you.

Yes, it is possible to see beyond the veil. Seek out your heart's desire and there dwell and you shall find it — the peace that passes all understanding.

Walk with me awhile in the garden of light.

Walk with me.

Be with me.

We are here for you.

We love you.

So be it.
