

Each Person Has Their Place

I am White Eagle.

Each piece of the puzzle fits in its own place. And so it is with you. Each person plays a role. Each person has their place in the grand scheme of things. There is no mistake as to what place they are in.

You think you can't acknowledge the piece that you play or the place that you are in – and yet, there is so much possibility within that one single place. You think you see, but you do not.

The vision is much larger than any you have dreamed of. We are carrying you along in the grand stream of life. Do you think water has no form?

Then what form is your Spirit as it streams along each day? It depends upon the box in which you put it. Even so, it remains fluid. Go with the flow – the flow of this stream of consciousness that is ever moving forward, taking whatever shape it needs to take as it flows along.

Shall it ripple over rocks and stones on its way? Shall it be stopped from time to time at natural dams — and yet shall it not continue to flow? Onward and onward it goes. So it is with your Spirit. It takes shape and it takes its place, depending on the flow of the stream. Your stream of consciousness manifests what shape you will take. What path you shall follow. What song you shall hear. What voice you may follow.

You are a very important piece in this puzzle. Each person plays his or her own role and not one piece is missing for it is all part of one fabric – the fabric of the Universe which neither begins nor ends, but simply IS – and so you ARE, where you are, as you are, – and you are forever, no matter what shape you take, no matter what form you are in. Yes in that stream of consciousness, its form can freeze, its form can flow, its form can evaporate – and yet, it maintains its place in the Universe.

Do not fear what form you are in. That is the form that is needed right now and as needs change, so also will your form. Your stream of consciousness will rise and fall with the flow of energy upon the planet. But you can lift yourself up to the higher stream of consciousness with your own intent, with your own deliberate effort, to be all that you can possibly be. You are free. You are free to develop as you wish, to assume the form you wish, to play your part with all your Soul.

Do not be afraid. Flow in that stream of consciousness and rise ever and ever higher into the realm of the possible. See it stretched out before you. There are paths that you can take. There are roads that you can follow. There are dreams that you can manifest. All possibilities lie before you. Take the one that lies before you and is extraordinarily yours. Follow that path. Be true to that path and to the vision that stretches out before you and there you shall find Peace and Light and Love and Joy and all those things you seek with all your heart.

For all begins with Love and all is wrapped in Joy and All is One in the Eternal. For WE ARE ALL ONE. And we All shall remain One now and forever.

Do not worry what path you shall take. The path is before you. Take that step forward. Let your Spirit flow with Love and Joy and Happiness.

Let it fulfill its goal. Let it know the Truth. Let it live the truth and be the truth and savor the truth that is in you from the beginning.

Let there be Peace. Let Love overflow in your heart of hearts. May the impossible become possible within the form that you choose.

Be not afraid! Move forward. All Life awaits you. All Peace is yours – all Joy, all Love, all Life, and all Light everlasting. There is no boundary defining who you are.

Be well, dear friends, for all is well and all is well and all manner of things shall be well.

Bless you, my child, bless you.

I am White Eagle.

Aum. Amen. Bless you. So be it.

Message channeled May 17, 2020
© Karen A. Shaffer 2020 (may be freely disseminated)
www.WhiteEagleSpeaks.net