

Oh, Humanity, Wake to your powers!

I am White Eagle.

All you see before you is chaos—the chaos of ungrounded thought that wreaks havoc upon the world. The order you have known now faces the unknown. All the things you fear are simply change — transformation, if you will, from one mode of thought to another, raising you ever higher in your conscious awareness of the unity of all things.

One cannot take a step in China without someone in Saudi Arabia knowing about it. The Earth is one globe. Only man has separated it into little pieces of territory that they can never possess. For the earth belongs to all of us and not to any one of us. Humanity as a whole has a responsibility to itself to bring peace upon the planet, to stretch out and reveal the truth as it is — the wholeness of all things, the oneness that unites us all. There is no separation of spirit. We are all One.

Imagine, if you will, how that one thought can transform the world. All the divisions will fall away. New harmonies will emerge from the abstractions and disharmony that haunt you now. So ground your energies deep into the earth, down to the deep central crystal core and let the energy of Love rise up to meet your feet and FLOW throughout your body to the heavens above. Allow your consciousness to unite heaven and earth.

YOU are the transforming element. Humanity stands between heaven and earth. The savior of all that is real, all that is whole, all that is healthy, all the power that is within rains upon the earth. Notice how wise you are when you are in tune with the Infinite. The heart of the earth vibrates within you and resonates with the higher spheres of consciousness. Do not allow yourself to sink into habits of despair.

The moon and sun rise within you. You are the Light that saves the world from the disasters you only imagine. Recognize the wholeness within you and within everyone and all things. Recognize the wholeness of the planet, of its place within the universe, of the wholeness and rightness of all things. Take your place among the gods.

Oh, Humanity, Wake to your powers, perception of higher consciousness. Awaken to all that you are and always have been. Hear this cry, this plea of all humanity. Make peace. Make peace a reality. Open to the peace within you and to the Love that transcends all boundaries. Open your hearts. Let the world in.

Unveil the higher reality, the True Consciousness that made us all. Live in the Creative Spirit that moves within you. Breathe in the essence of Life for the Light SHINES within you. And all the world will be in love with Light — the Light of all humanity that waves like a torch in the wind — a beacon to all who seek sanctuary.

Let your light shine and light the beacon within each one until the whole globe is alight with hope, with truth, with Love everlasting. Do not depend on your own senses alone but on the Light within you that burns with everlasting Love. For we are all One and the Oneness is a Light that will shine forever. Let your love and your light shine! Now and forever!

Love will prevail. Be assured.
Love is gathered within you and IT WILL SHINE!
Have faith. Be at peace.

Bless you, my child. Bless you.
So be it.
Amen.
Aum.
