

A New World Dawns

I am White Eagle.

A New Age comes and yet you do not seek it. Why not? What is the fear that holds you back? Do you not strain to see the future, to see what you, yourself, have created? Do you not strain to know the truth, to see far distant into the destiny of humanity? Do you not wonder where it is all going?

How many feel trapped in the dissolute time of change! The disruption of all that you have known, the decline of the settled order. How far can you see? How far do you wish to see?

Heaven knows where you are going! But do you? What is all this Love and Light that you have been beaming from your central core? What is all this care about the Earth, the living, breathing Earth and all that is in it and upon it?

You think you cannot know. But what is within you? Ask! Seek! Find! That which is within you will never perish. It is THAT which endures through whatever disruptions may occur. Yes, the Earth is changing. The Universe is changing for all that matter. But You are changing too. What is that leap you have been talking about for so long — that leap into higher consciousness, to greater awareness, to total self-revelation? Is that not what you have been seeking? And is that not what has been promised for this time?

Though the Earth shakes and you shake within you, yet there is a piece of you that is rock-solid, a piece that can never be shaken and yes, there is a Peace deep within you that is a part of Eternity. Grab onto it! And let it carry you through the dissolution of the order you have known. Create anew from the space that is within you. A New World dawns. A new world is upon you.

But YOU must create it from a higher point of consciousness and THERE shall you dwell in a New World in a New Age that opens promise to one and all. For we are all One. As you dream, as you believe, as you think, as you envision a New World that is upon you, a New Age that is within you, so shall it be. For all is One and One is All and all that you dream shall be.

Do not fear your dreams. Dream with boldness. Dream with Faith. Dream with Realization that YOU are the Creator and all that you create will come to pass and all the Earth shall rejoice and return to Peace once again — at a higher level of Being.

This is my promise. Do not fear to go forward. Seek the power within you. Express it! — with all the might within you. Be brave. The world is not coming to an end. It is opening to a new beginning. Bless it and bless you and all who partake of this great step forward into higher realms.

Rejoice! It is upon you. Be glad! Seek the Wisdom within you and you shall have Understanding and be not afraid.

Bless you, my child. Bless you.
So be it. Amen. Aum.
