

Let Love Be Your Guide

I am White Eagle.

For all the bitterness and broken-heartedness we have seen, there will come a New Day.

You are witnessing the healing of the Earth and all sentient Beings upon it.

For you, it is painful. For the Earth herself, it is painful, and yet, it is necessary.

All that it has given has given out to the point where it needs renewal. And the turbulence of that renewal reflects the depth of the angst within her own bowels.

The turmoil at the center of the Earth reflects the turmoil of humanity and all of Nature. How many times has she cried out for Reparation, for wholesome Respect, for Tender,...Loving,...Care — and yet so ignored, so underappreciated for all her gifts for all of humanity.

At last humanity feels her pain. The wrenching within each one's heart is a reflection of the wrenching within the bowels of the Earth.

Why do you not know the Earth is a sentient Being – Just As You Are?

When we say Love your Neighbor as Yourself, Is not the Earth your Neighbor?

Why then do you Hate Yourself?

If that is why you cannot treat the Earth with the tenderness she deserves.

Heal yourselves first! In service to the Earth, acknowledge all that it is, all that it ever has been. Nurture this awareness. Seek the softness of your own heart. And melt the angst within you. And so it will be with the Earth.

You cannot Discover how deeply you are wounded until you are in sympathy with the Earth and move to heal its open wounds. Reflect on its greatness with gratitude for its Being, with awareness of its glory, of its mystical Nature.

Walk in this awareness with tenderness beneath your feet and you, too, will find that tenderness within you. The wound that runs so deeply strains all of humanity. For where one heart is broken, all are broken. For We Are All One. You cannot heal one without healing the other.

Where one is wounded, so is another, and another, and another... and so it goes.... It is a chain around the Earth squeezing it ever tighter. It is unendurable for one and all.

So therefore, mount higher. Come from a larger perspective—the higher worlds within you—the Great Spirit that beats within every heart.

Return to that – to that which you know is true. Release the chains! Burst out with Joy and surround the Earth with garlands of Love and Beauty! No more torn fragments of human despair.

Let all pause and remember the Truth that is within each and every Heart. For we are ALL ONE!!! The Spirit within YOU is the Spirit within ALL of us.

And that Spirit heals. When it heals one, it heals all. And the Earth will rejoice with you in the healing of One and All.

Do not take this bitterness with sorrow that runs so deep. There is a well within you — a well of Divine Love, of unscarred tissue, of internal radiance — that wells up within you. Throw aside all the sorrow and sadness and bitterness. Let it dissolve in the well of good Being. Let it dissolve in the well of Truth. The truth that we are all One and in that Oneness, we are whole and in that Wholeness, there is Joy, and we are healed.

Represent the goodness within you and reflect it to all humanity. And let humanity rejoice in remembering the Truth that is within us all — the Truth of Grace, of Beauty, of Love, of Joy, of Life Eternal.

Let us all remember who we are. Let us ascend to the higher places and to the dimensions that are our common right, our common Being and to the welfare that is there for one and all. Only open to it. See the beauty that is before you. Open to the wind and the rain and all of Nature. Embrace it with all your heart. And understand, it is YOU. YOU are the Earth. YOU are All of Humanity. YOU are a child of Nature. YOU are One with the All and the All is One with YOU.

It is our time of At-one-ment. Time for all of us to ascend to our rightful and true Being — the Spirit within knows not sadness but only Joy and Love — for One and All.

Keep the Faith. Remember this. Hold onto your Higher Being. Reach for the stars. Reach for your higher self within you, within this fragile body, and know the truth within you — that you are Spirit, we are All Spirit, we are All One — and that is the Rule of Nature — and you shall know Joy and you shall remember who you are and the glory of One and All.

Let Rapture precede you. Let Joy well up from within you. Let Love be your Guide. All is well, all is well, and all is well within you.

Be Well, Dear Ones. Be well!

So be it.

Amen.

Aum.
