

The Shadow is NOTHING in the LIGHT!

I am White Eagle.

Cradle your emotions in the depths of your heart. But do not weep for me. Weeping is for those who care about the Earth and all who stand with her. Come now and look directly in my eyes and there you shall see pools of light garnered from the Breath of Life that instills in us the sensibility to weep.

How very strange this all is.

How can we cope, you ask? What is the next step? What are we to be about doing? What prayers shall we say? What blessing shall we give to the Earth herself? And how shall we begin to repair all that we have done? Which shadow do we shine the light upon first? And how shall we cope? How shall we make ready for all that we have sown in the depths of the sea?

How many words have we lost? What bearings do we have left? How can we see the stars and where is there hope? One can only assume there is an Intelligence guiding us away from the error of our ways into the compassion of the moment, into broad-scale compassion for all we meet.

Into the fullness of our hearts, into the radiance of this blessing, we must march! There is no other path to follow. Compassion follows the heart. Compassion stimulates the mind and moves us then to action. Seek the compassion in your hearts. Seek the urgency of your souls.

Mind the mindfulness that is required. Stare into the depths of human woe and find the way out beyond the pale of human destruction into the light of human compassion. Nod to the Spirits that guide you. Follow their lead. Let them bless each and every one.

Sing and dance into the holiness of this hour, this great hour of change, this great hour of transformation for you and all the world. Do not dodge the insight we leave upon you.

Summon the courage to move forward. Summon the courage to see the Light for the Light is All and the Shadow is NOTHING – it is NOTHING in the LIGHT and therefore the LIGHT YOU SHALL BE! The LIGHT YOU MUST Be! Hold your lamp aloft. Brighten all the world. Illuminate the hearts of all people and raise up the Universe with all your hearts.

Sing to the Almighty Creator, the Creation that is so broadly beyond your understanding. Be wise and accept the blessing you do not understand. The Earth will bless you and all of heaven will rejoice with you for Victory is in sight – way beyond the well of despair.

The Light is upon you. The Light surrounds you. You are the Light. Stay in the Light. Be the Light! Salvage the Light among you and raise high the banner of pure Light that makes all things new. Then shall the children follow you and the Earth be made whole.

Begin again on a whole new level. A whole new plane of existence. A whole new dimension of Being. There shall you rest and perform miracles you never thought you could.

Walk onto the bridge. Feel its subtle rays. Abide in the Light that surrounds you. And you will leap with Joy – past all terror, past all despair, even beyond hope. Dance into the Light.

Soar with the angels. Be Light-footed and walk into the New World that is ever more than your heart could ever hope. Speak softly the truth of this New Generation.

All is well and all is well and all manner of things shall be well.

May peace be upon you.

Bless you, dear child. Bless you.

So be it.

Aum.
