

Clear your mind with the Ocean of Love

I am White Eagle.

There has been a change inside you. You do not recognize it yet. All you feel is a form of depression — a deep sense of loss. And so it is.

A great deal has been lost from the planet you love so much, from this spiraling globe of light. You wonder if there can be any hope, if any future is worth knowing.

You feel as if you are wandering in the wilderness — no direction, no sustenance, no end in sight. And yet, you labor on with all your projects and programs and attempt to dream, yet you do not know what to dream, how to envision the path that is before you and how it will come to an end.

You fear the darkness. You seek the Light and yet the Light is within you — enough light to dispel the darkness, to turn back the waves of despair, to sink the hopelessness into the Ocean of Light.

You cannot see what is there, yet deep within its depths, this beautiful Ocean of Light, is that which you are seeking.

The warmth of hope, the possibility of knowing, the assurance of being — all within your reach, deep down inside you.

Go through the darkness and the despair, head forward, heart full of hope, feet firm on the firmament of Life.

Let your heart lead you. You will never be misled. All that is in you cries out for fulfillment of the dream, the dream of all humanity for peace and love and eternal light. All these are within your grasp.

There is no fool among us. All is known to us. All is well with you. All is deep within you. Search. Search the depths of your heart of hearts. Make way for the Light — the Light that is within you. Spur on that dream of everlasting love and light for it is written deep within you and it IS YOURS forevermore.

Speak willingly of this Light, let it appear among you. It IS in your sight. It is not beyond you. It IS within you.

Be at peace with all that is. Surround yourself with the love of Light and the happiness of eternal being. Do not allow yourself to slip into the sea of despond, for the time is ripe to move on, to see more clearly, to look more deeply, to value yourself and all that is within you.

There is no peace without Love and Love is the Light within you. Let there be peace in your heart. Clear your mind with the Ocean of Love and wash your feet in the footsteps of the Divine. There shall you partake of Eternal Bliss and never shall you turn back.

The All is within you. MIND who you are.

Be well and seek the Light daily. Manifest the holiness within you. Beam your light abroad and let it inspire all you touch to seek more deeply, to live more broadly, to rejoice more heartily.

Make haste to do my bidding. For we are all One and in that Oneness, we are all Light. Manifest all that you are and ever will be. The power is within you. Let it out. It will come.

Believe me. All is well and all is well and all is well from now unto Eternity – ALL IS WELL.

We embrace you with all our hearts and hold you to us with arms of Love. Feel now our embrace.

And watch as we surround you in circles of light. This healing is for you.

Bless you, my child. Bless you.
So be it.
