

The Halo of Richness

I am White Eagle.

The leaves are falling like rain, but the sun still shines through – that great Central Sun that controls all things, creates all things, imagines all things. That from which we have come endures forever. Though we have walked in various shadows yet the Sun shines through.

Tragedy comes upon one and all. The leaves crinkle and die. But in their time, they have laid the seed for life yet to come. The greening of spring – it comes again and again.

You think there is no darkness like to that of death, and yet, it is death that propels you into the Light! – the Light behind the light that you see – the Light that gives life to every living thing.

The Light understands who you are. It knows that you will not perish. That the essence of you is imperishable. Awaken to your true essence. Awaken to the call of your heart to know all things for they shall be revealed to you as the summer sun shines through the wintry leaves.

You can't imagine how great you are, how impossibly wonderful you are, how splendidly gifted you are! Spangled with light beyond the stars, ever effervescent, ever knowing the notes to sing, the words to speak, the heart to give to one another.

There is no end to all the possibilities of what you can do in one single life. Yet consider your life is for Eternity! There is nothing that bars your way to the Truth that is unknown. Poke beyond the clouds. See beyond the sky. Live beyond the planets and the star-spangled heavens, into the heart of the Central Sun.

That's YOU! That's where you belong – in the Central Sun, for we are All One in that glorious creation.

Lift up your hearts! Be glad! Be happy! Be aware! In every ending there is a beginning. In every beginning there is a new chapter, a fresh page to write upon.

Know more deeply who you are, where you come from and what you are about. Delve deeply into the heart of the Universe, the holder of the Central Sun. Step into our world. Push through that door. And honor the path that you have taken, the good that you have wrought, the handiwork of your heart, the song of your soul.

All these belong to you. They belong to one and all for we are All One. Manifest all that you are, all that you ever have been! Manifest your love of the Divine, your whole-hearted embracement of all that is, the Truth behind what you see. Life beyond the veil.

Know who you are truly. Then shall you come again to a realization of the whole – the link between every sentient Being, the Universal Love that stands within you and before you and around you. It is a halo of richness, a halo of glory, a crown of gold we place upon your head, for as you go through that door, you will know all things. All things will come to you. All life will begin again. You shall see the Truth, know the Truth, and be the Truth.

Follow the Light! The Light that is before you. The Light that is ever before you. Follow the Light. It is within you. It is around you. It is here, now, with us.

Lend your beam to all that is and let it be a beacon of light for one and all, for we are All One and in that Oneness is the Truth of all Being, the Sun that lives forever, the beauty that will not fade.

Let it all begin. Now is the time. Now is the time. Now is the time.

Be well, dear one. We love you. We are All One. Never forget – We are All One!

*So be it. Bless you, my child.
Aum. Amen.*

Message channeled October 13, 2020.
©Karen A. Shaffer 2020 (may be freely disseminated)
www.WhiteEagleSpeaks.net