

There is a mystery that runs through all things

I am White Eagle.

There is a mystery that runs through all things. It binds all that it ties together, threading its way through every particle of your being. A ribbon of Love and Joy that runs through all things whatever their level of consciousness may be.

You cannot say to me "I Am" without knowing that the "I Am" within you is greater and more powerful than anything you have ever dreamed of. WHY do you not recognize the reality of your being? WHY do you not rise up and sing for all that you are worth – for your worth is greater than you know.

The powerful sum of All Being resides within your heart. You cannot explain its existence. You only know IT IS THERE.

Like a volcano awaiting the day of its explosion, you sit in readiness awaiting the fire of kundalini to rise within you. Yet all you have to do is speak your truth and it will flow like the lava from that volcanic source within you. You need not sit in a pile of ashes awaiting your destiny for the time is always now for that explosion within you. You need not wait any longer. The time is at hand, always secretly in your hands. Quietly you must open them and spring free that spirit within you. Let it rise ever higher and higher into the stratosphere of your full Being. Regard yourself as holy – as one who is the container of one great mystery, yet a mystery that links us all in the Love and Joy of Being.

You only see a wall in front of you because you do not look deeply enough. You are afraid of your own heart of hearts – afraid to follow your soul to its very depths. Yet there is the treasure!

Open to the depths of the realms within you – and there touch upon the elusive mystery of Being. Walk in the fullness of the Light that descends upon you and the Love that erupts from your innermost being.

Let it circle the globe and make all Beings join in your Song of Joy. Then peace will descend upon you and dwell in your heart forever. It will RING the bells of freedom from the chains of human illusion. It will unclasp the bonds that tie you down to the illusion of separateness and abandonment.

That mysterious thread runs like a multi-colored ribbon – a rainbow of light weaving its way through every heart. Heart to heart we are all bound together. The rainbow guides us after the storm and so it is that this ribbon of Light tugs at our hearts, guiding us to the harbor of Infinity which is our home.

It is your inheritance. Courage, then, to claim it and truly make it your own! For the star within you will never fade and the mountain of loving lava will pour forth from your heart forevermore. All you need do is ASK and it WILL be given you.

Go now into those depths, into the very heart of the volcano, seething with the passion to be free. Allow yourself to erupt into Joy! For bliss is yours by inheritance. It is yours forevermore.

Step into the wholeness of the Being that you are! And resolve the mystery of All that Is. Speak softly in your heart of hearts and know the Truth of your Being, the wisdom that resides within, the peace that you are capable of, the Joy that resounds in the cataracts of your heart of hearts.

Lift up your hearts. Remember who you are and bring forth an explosion of Love that will surround the Earth with gladness and everyone will sing with Joy. Be well, my friend. Be well.

