

The War Is Over

I am White Eagle.

This war will not last. It is over. All the fears that have generated the chaos and disorder, that have so scarred your planet, will soon dissipate.

For the law of Divine Order enables you to set it aright by sending forth the love in your hearts, tears in your eyes, the light in your minds—send it forth, all of it!

Yes, you weep for humanity and for the planet and yes, your heart cries—cries out for freedom to love. Your mind sets itself against the wind and bids it stop.

The play is slowing down. The desperation is only here for awhile. “More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of”—and so it is. The prayers of the Lightworkers have been heard and so the Earth shall turn toward the Light. The planet shall reside in a new dimension. Humanity shall overcome its own waywardness. Its trajectory will be straight—straight to the heart of God—the Divine magic that moves this world and all who dwell upon it.

You cannot say “Peace” here and “Peace” there without knowing there is an Eternal Peace—a Peace within you that will never die. Take that Peace and project it outward on all you meet. Let Love surround each encounter with one another and that alone will light the world with Charity, with Bliss, with Everlasting Light.

Can you not see the truth of this? I tell you, the war is over. It is ended. For the war has been within you and as that chaos diminishes, so too will the world settle down and the Earth will become all that it can be—a planet of Love and Light that shines for all the Universe to see, that opens other worlds to others, that brings steadiness to the songs of the stars, that brings salvation to all who hear the heartbeat of the Earth, the groundswell of Love, the perpetual beam of Light that stretches far beyond your imagining.

So now Think Peace and Be at Peace, for this Peace is upon you—NOW. And forever shall it shine from heart to heart, life to life, planet to planet, star to star. Take heed of what I say. This world is not for you to destroy, but to Love and Live again.

Foster its beauty, its inner strength, its inner life, by strengthening your own, your own inner intelligence, your own heart that beats with love, your own mind that perceives the Light.

Let it SHINE!

The war is over. Time now to be at peace, now and forever.

May peace and peace and peace be everywhere and always with you.

Bless you, my child, bless you.
So be it.
Amen.