

There WILL be peace . . .

No matter how disappointed you are in the election results, it has opened possibilities you do not see. But time will tell in the end the story of a gigantic turn in all public affairs — where humans gather together to create a new world order — one that is free of vice and open to all possibilities, one that opens the eyes of all to a new world of possibilities — of real hope for humankind and for the trajectory of the Earth.

You cannot see it now but it will come. And these events are but a precursor of a new world beyond your imagining.

Let me say that there WILL be peace, there WILL be cooperation, there WILL be healing of all the Earth and all the creatures that dwell upon it.

You have no idea how profoundly the Lightworkers have changed the world, how fully enlightened you are, and how far advanced you have become in just a flash of an eye.

You have no concept that can override your dimensional focus. You cannot see how vastly things have changed — and how deeply transformed the energy of the planet is.

Wait awhile and you will see what is now so profoundly obscured.

The Light is upon you. No darkness can cover it.

All will be well and all will be well and all will be well. This I assure you.

I am White Eagle.

Message channeled November 5, 2014
©Karen A. Shaffer 2014 (may be freely disseminated)
www.WhiteEagleSpeaks.net